GENERALLY.

LOUIS AND CYPLEREN,—1 beg to thank you most sincerely for the kind assistance you have rendered me during the past three years, in estrying an with success the business of the Royal Furnishing Areade.

I desire now, after forty years of very active business life, to RETIRLS in favour of my SONS.

Business has lately assumed such extraordinary phases that I feel unwilling to exhaust my remaining health in endeavouring to keep pace with its ragatuss. Health and peace, even if with only a crust, are in my humble opinion preferable to wealth if accompanied with uture prostration of body and mind.

Venturing to hope that this business ander the conduct of my sons, may continue to deserve and to receive your kindly countenance and support.

I remain,
Your obedient servant,
W. B. CAMPBELL.

Mr. GRIFFITHS asked if this would not be a good time to consider the subject? Captain BROOMFIELD said that between £500 and £600 had been expended, and at present nothing had been sottled as to whether this or any of it would be reimbursed. A deputation had waited on the Corporation to know whether a sum of about £350 expended in levelling the ground would be allowed, but no answer had yet been received by the committee. It was intended then to ask the Government to defray the expenses, and if the Government refused to take the money off the contributions. For himself, he was of opinion that the Agricultural Society should not bear the expenses.

The motion for the adoption of the report was agreed to unanimously.

On the motion of Mr. Fallon, seconded by Mr. Bruce, his Excellency the Governor was unanimously re-elected President.

his Excellency the Governor was unanimously re-elected President.

On intimating that the proposition had been agreed to, the Chairman said that when they lost the Governor they would lose the sortices of a gentleman who took a great interest in the society. (Applause.)

Mr. Pilk proposed, and it was carried,—"That the vice-presidents for the previous year, with the substitution of the name of Mr. G. H. Cox for that of Mr. Mort, be elected."

WRECK OF THE 8.8. MECCA.

We have been favoured by a private firm in this city with the folowing particulars of the wreck of the abovenamed steamer, received by them from Captain Williams, a resident on Thursday Island :—

"The s.s. Mesca was on shore on the morning of the 94th Decemner, on a detached patch of the ippolite Reef. She had 57b Chieses passengers on board. I went with three of my boats to her assistance, snd, together with the bein of the steamer's coint. the whole of the passengers were basing, son, is effects, and news, are now camped. On the 38th December on inquiry was incititated before Mr. Chaster, belies Magistrate, on Thursday Island, and from the oridence diduced it was decided that the captain was in default in misudging the distance of the reef from the mainland, and referred he case to the Queenselland Marine Board to deal with the question of certificate. The oftenmer's bottom was torn out, and also stirled down in two minutes after sinking. The facts is awanch and the crown are being samployed weathing. All the cargo, with he exception of short 15 from rice, has been destroyed, but the ngines can be savel, as it is smooth water in the S.S. mouseous.

The reef is two and a half makes from Thresday Island, and halfentit rects flood Island, on which is placed the Government lignal Station.

SUMMARY OF NEWS POR BUROPE

The Sydney Morning Berald.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1879.

We are rapidly approaching a time of specia municipal interest all over the colony. The "first Tuesday in February" is the day specified in the Act of 1867 for the retirement of aldermen, and nominations to fill the vacun that date. In this instance the first Tues day in February falls on the 4th. day in February into on the eth. The latest day for sending in the names will consequently be the 28th of the current month. The "seven clear days" do not include the day on which the notice is given, but they do include the day of nomination. The returning-officers are available to care by adventisement. are required to give, by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in or be a description of the trade or calling, and extent proved a failure. is held to include "leaseholder" and "free-holder." It must not be a description of a accidental result of the old division of the social status, as "gentleman." And in regard colony into provinces numerous experiments to residence, the facts stated must be a noti-aldermen ought to be able, through their Municipal Conference, to make their influence dence, they will find that rights which they ought to possess in common with the rate-payers of Sydney will pass beyond their reach, and we shall have in this new country a servile imitation of an antique injustice.

The Hon. Gross C. Brodwick, speaking of the position of the metropolic of the United Kingdom as compared with that of other communities, says that it is in many other communities, says that it is in many respects entirely unique. "It is well known," he observes, "that the City of London was specifically exempted from the operation of the Municipal Corporation Acts, partly no doubt in deference to its overwhelming capacity of resistance, but partly out of respect for its great historical tradi-tions and comparative purity of administra-tion. The consequence is that a district con-taining but 640 acres, situated in the heart of are required to give, by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in or near such municipality, not less than fourteen days' notice of "the day of nomination." On the day appointed for the nominations, and at the place appointed, the returning-officer must, at neon, publicly read the names of the candidates than the number to be elected, the returning-officer will declare them duly chosen. But where there are there is an excess of candidates a poll will have to take place at the times and places to be advertised by the returning-officer will declare them duly chosen. But where there is an excess of candidates a poll will have to take place at the times and places to be advertised by the returning-officer will declare them duly chosen. But where there is an excess of candidates and the two electors will have to take place at the times and places to be advertised by the returning-officer will declare them duly chosen. But where there is an excess of candidates and the two electors will declare the manues of the land-officers. New Zealand may be regarded as a microcosm in which multitudinous experiment have been tried; and though the colony's history is a short one, sufficient time has algored to defects. New Zealand may be regarded as a microcosm in which multitudinous experiment have the general water to the associated owners of the land-officers. New Zealand may be regarded as a microcosm in which multitudinous experiment have been to the season the full water to the accordance of the full water to the se fication of the home or ordinary place of realdence of the person mentioned, and not merely his place of business. Attention to these points will prevent some disappointment.

Every contested election must take place after the lapse of not less than two days nor more than seven days from "the day of nomination," so that the municipal elections must all be determined not later than the allth of next month.

It is satisfactory that year after year additional interest appears to be taken in municipal affairs. Not very long ago they were regarded as of very small consequence. There was little competition for fication of the home or ordinary place of resi- made, and the issues may now be compared. they were regarded as of very small consequence. There was little competition for the complete unification of the colony, the aldermanic position and consequently into the elections. But interests and suburban interests have recently grown in importance, and people generally into the elections of the people, have been working grown in importance, and people generally into unity by the rejection of what has been property and social interests of a locality into the property and social interests of a locality into the property and social interests of a locality into the property and social interests of a locality into the property and social interests of a locality into the property and social interests of a locality into the property and social interests of a locality into the property and social interests of a locality into the property and social interests of a locality into the property and social interests of a locality into the property in influenced in proportion as proved to be worthless or mischievous, and their self-interest prompts the two islands. The peopling of all available for the turn by the past we have now into their public spirit; but it seems that so amount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept or example as mount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept or example as to what is dear mount of precept withing the onther public public and the public public as the public public and the property lists of the turns been dealt with a bright of the turn by the precious of what has been dear the two islands. The peopling of all available the property lists of the future by the past we have not the two islands. The peopling of all available th done little more than make roads and, construct kerbing and guttering. That is, no doubt, a very useful work, and not-withstanding that it has been often mately pass into the hands of a few monopolists. Hence New Zealand politicians have been readily found by its proximity to improved roads, we are inclined to believe that, in the execution of this kind of municipal work, the ratepayers as a whole have been very fairly considered. In other respects, however, suburban municipal councils have not been conspicuous for energy, intelligance, or activity. In many cases they have not done assmuch as they sught to have done to prevent abuses of sanitary laws. They are not armed with sufficient authority to do all that ought to be done; but, at the same time, they have not exerted to its fullest extent the authority which they possess. And in the forthcoming elections the ratepayers will do well to select men not so much because of their determination to insist upon an equitable expenditure of rates as for their ability to exercise an intelligent influence in regard to those sanitary matters which are of much more importance to a community than the expenditure of a fair proportion of taxes in any particular locality.

It is not necessary for an alderman to be a politician, and yet, judging from the speeches of some men who have been candidates for aldermanic honours, one would imagine that they had made the mistake of the content would imagine that they had made the mistake of the content would imagine that they had made the mistake of the content would imagine that they had made the mistake of the content would imagine that they are about to enter woon. dates for aldermanic honours, one would imagine that they had made the mistake of believing that they were about to enter upon a process of law-making. This is just the antithesis of the error frequently committed by candidates for legislative honours who cannot rise above the municipal level.

We have reached a period in municipal and political history when it is of great importance that the gentlemen chosen to fill the office of aldermen should possess intelligence and have souls above gutters. It is desirable also that they should know something of the municipal history of other countries, and be not altogether unacquainted with the principles of local of other countries, and be not altogether the timber, which often amounted to the unacquainted with the principles of local destruction of valuable property. Governor goard to suburban aldermen, because within the next few months it is likely that the fate of this metropolis will be decided for many years to come. Suburban added for many years to come. Suburban and the subtlement of the North Island and Toronthi the subtlement of the North Island and Toronthi the subtlement almost uninterrupted succession of thriving farms along the coast belt from Mokan to Municipal Conference, to make their innuence felt in securing for all parts of this great metropolis equal municipal rights. If at this time they are apathetic; if they do not press their claims with an intelligence and force of which they have hitherto given little evidence than all find that rights which that upon multiplying farmers rather than equat-ters, and are dismissing all systems which have failed to contribute towards that object.

The lessons which have been learned in

The lessons which have been learned in New Zealand may be gathered into small space. In the first place, the principle of free selection before survey has been proved to be a pernicious one. It is true that in Canterbury the mischievousness of throwing open the whole territory to intending selectors has largely been neutralized by the precaution of insisting on "sufficient price;" but that fact does not save the principle of free selection before survey from condemnation. The better plan is to bring the land into the market in such quantities and at such prices as are fitted to meet the current requirements of settlement. In the next place, it has been tions and comparative purity of administration. The consequence is that a district containing but 640 acres, situated in the heart of the metropolis, continues to be governed by a Corporation framed on the medieval pattern, and retaining an independent civil juridiction which is another remnant of the private in other parts of the United Kingdom." We do not want to have in the midst of the metropolis of New South Wales a Corporation framed on this medieval pattern. What we require is that the whole metropolis shall be placed on a footing of municipal equality, and that sanitary arrangements and public works which are necessary for the whole metropolitan area shall be placed under a Board of Health and Works. We hope that in the coming elections the ratepayers will bear these facts in mind, and that they will be a manufa exceptionally wealthy district like that of Burwood should be without the means of extinguishing fires is anything but creditable. But the misfortune is that Burwood is not singular in that respect, for there is hardly a Municipal Council in the colony which has yet perceived it to be its duty to provide from the ordinary municipal revenue the necessary fire-axtinguishing apparatus. The efforts made by certain public-spirited young mean to form volunteer fire companies is no doubt in

Mr. Morehead, proprictor of the Lambton Colliery, has distributed a circular letter in the form of a pamphlet amongst the miners of that colliery, on the subject of the vend scheme, in which he takes somewhat the same ground as that adopted by Mr. Dibbs in his address to the New Lambton miners, and distinctly warns the men that, in the event of their upholding the Associated Colliery proprietors in the vend scheme, he will throw them out of employment. The reading of Mr. Morehead's letter to-day amongst the miners naturally caused a good deal of excitement, and the matter was discussed freely. Nothing definite can yet be learnt as to what course the miners will pursue; but the prevailing opinion is that they intend to support the vend scheme and take the consequences. The action of the New Lambton miners in the matter will, doubtless, be identical.

Mr. Shepherd, member for Wellington, met with an enthusiastic reception here. He was accompanied by Mr. Hurley, member for Hartley, and about a hundred residents eccorted him into town, where an address of welcome was presented to him. Mr. Shepherd addressed the electors last night.

The foundation-stone of the new public school was laid this afternoon, by Miss Flora Buchanan, the eldest daughter of Mr. W. F. Buchanan, of Warrana, in the presence of a large number of spectatora. Mr. Buchanan subsequently made a speech in sulogium of the Education Act of Sir Henry Parkes. The latest Herald and Coonamble Independent, with a list of the Council of Education, also statistics of the school, and several coins of the realm, were deposited under the stone. Various tossts and speeches followed. The school is to cost £2000. Mr. W. J. White is the contractor.

A singular case of spontaneous combustion occurred yesterday. James Howe was loading some cats in a field, and spreading the same on a waggon, when the tail end of the cats took fire, and spread rapidly. The waggon was burnt, and the shaft horse singed. There had been no smoking to cause the fire. Had the horses bolted a terrible confingration would have occurred among the crops.

I heard a tribute of high praise paid to Australian journalism lately, consequent upon the reading of the latest "London Letter" which appeared in your journal. "No wonder you English make such progress when your journals infuse such a healthy tone into the nation. Such writings, referring particularly to the speech of the Bishop of Manchester, which you quote, must tend to elevate the sentiments of all who read them. Would that the French journalists would more frequently follow the astime noble path. It gladdened me to hear such praise, and the feeting was increased by the fact such praise, and the feeling was increased by the fact that the article in question was deemed worthy to be published after coming so many thousands of miles, in solumns generally devoted to items of mere news.

The Segond arrived from her visit, with captured rebels, to the Isle of Pines. She brings back two of them for the purpose of serving as teatimony to the others. They will receive far better treatment from the missionaries than many of them deserve. It is fortunate that the rebels are collapsing as they are doing, or the soldiers would suffer much from the heat, which during the past week has been almost unbearable. which during the past week has been almost unbearable. For days not a breath of wind; every prognostication of a severe hurricane has been endured, but the barouncter has not fallen. Health of the place good.

On application every mone of information were plead On application every means of information were placed at my disposal in the freest possible manner by the sutherities; the books containing the register of such; man's name who leaves the colony; the pulse of applications for permission to leave, which each; one has to make; the reports made by the palies and the records of the penitentiary service which are sent in respecting the character of the applicants; these and every step taken in counsection with the subject were all most clearly explained to me, from all; which the following facts were gathered: First, that no man is permitted to leave this colony who has not completely finished his term of imprisonment, and I also its "doublage," as the Franch learn; it, which means a like number of years to the sterm of his sentence which he must live here; similar the permission of the authorities, which jis granted only to those whose notes, rigidly recorded in the books of the service, earn for them the character of low sujas—"good subject"—or more correctly, if less itselly rendered in Ruglish, "character good." One paper, which I saw amongst the others bearing upon this subject, gave an especially valuable illustration of the manner in which the applications are dealt with. It was a grough abstract sheet, upon which was chesh man's name, and the result, in nitial letters, of the inquiries into this conduct. A blue pencil line had been drawn through the names of those who received permissions to leave. In no single instance did the blue line space which is conduct. The records show an average of three per annum only since 1874, though the usual number returned to France and went to ether countries. The majority of the 120 who have left the colony since May, 1878, are men who have served their time and for years have gained their livelihood in Noumes, respectably earning not only a good sharacter, but also sufficient memory to enable them to pay their passages to, and to make a commonwement in mother land. Many were political prisoners, against whom no drime appeared. All will doubtless profit by superiesses. All "once bitten" would be "twice shy." when no crime appeared. All will doubtless profit by superiosce. All "once bitten" would be "twice shy." From the total of 120 "permits" must be deducted those who either never went to Australia, or went then lands. A few were some month those who either never went to Australia, or went there us seats to other lands. A few were some months fines helped by an English gentleman now seathers in Sydney, who hid known them so concellently well conducted and able mechanics, for years past in Noumes. Any one acquainted with the extens precautions adopted by the authorities here egainst the escape of convict, ticket-of-leave-man, or depends "(political prisoner), and with the searching meanures in which the inquiries respecting personal character are pursued as I have just described, when parmission to leave the colony is demanded, will conclude that there is little reason for any great entery to the part of Australia. The legitimate conclusion is that we English neighbours should be very glad that our Fresch neighbours keep no jealous a guard over the troublesome subjects who are sent to pay in New Caledonia the penalty of the crimes they committed in France, permitting only those to leave who have earned a good character and proved useful. Nothing fresh to report from the "country" dis-fricts. The revolt seems to have ended except for such fricts. The revolt seems to have ended except for such few rebals that remain amongst the mountains awaiting their sure punishment. The Governor left on the 2nd to visit Bourail and other places. Heavy rain fell on the 1st, and the weather continues showery. The Heather Bell case, to which I alluded in my last has assumed a more serious aspect. Her master and owner, John Daley, was ordered to take her and all his eld crew to Fijl, there to appear before the Court of the High Commissioner for the Western Pacific Islands, High Commissioner for the Western Pacific Islands, finally to answer the charges brought against him here. If. Daley, having endeavoured to defoat the course of justice by surreptitiously discharging his men, is now under arrest, and in addition to the already black list sgainst him, has now to answer other grave charges. Reporting that three of his crew had absconded, he was found to be shipping a full crew and a master. It was discovered by Mr. Layard that the three missing men had been shipped under false names to Lift, and that Mr. Daley was boasting that he would do the Consul, he would not take the vessel to Fift, &c., &c. This attempt at "throwing dust in the Consul's eyes," has failed most signally. In spite of all bluster and under-hauded "throwing dust in the Consul's eyes," has failed most signally, in spite of all bluster and under-handed practices terminating in a threat by the agent to have the vessel condemned, anything rather than she should go to Fiji to Fiji she will go. All that Mr. Daley has gained will prove a very severe loss, for heavy bonds will have to be entered into, and the cash deposited ere his vessel leaves these waters. The French authorities have aided, and will assist Mr. Layard by every means in their power. The three absconders will be brought back from Lifu, and those who aided them will be prosecuted and severely punished for breach of the
